Citizens of Jacksonville are petitioning the Common Council to remove the Chinese from the corporate limits

The Benton Democrat suggests that the ladies buy some hose—for the Fire Department, the city "dads" having refused to purchase any more

Trout fishing is good in some of the streams in Washington county, judging from the reported success of those who have indulged in this exciting pastime

The Sentinel says "Capt Jack now wants to be appointed Commanding General of General Canby's forces. The new Peace Commission have the matter under serious consideration"

Messrs Packwood & Co, of Hogem, have bought the interest of Mr Noland in the famous Salmon & Moore Quartz Mine and their mill will be kept busy stamping from the different mines in that locality

The Jacksonville Sentinel of last Saturday says "Another sad occurrence happened in a mining claim near Uniontown, in that county whereby John K Harrison was killed by a caving bank, last Thursday. Just the same old sad story"

Jackson county, according to the report of the School Superintendent, has 1,108 legal voters and 2,372 persons of school age. During the year there have been taught 57 quarters. The public school fund for this year aggregates $4,815 16

Several families in Washington county talk of trying their luck in the terminus game at Bellingham Bay. Not advising, but suggesting, our Hillsboro correspondent thinks they would do well to "endure the ills they have rather than fly to others" of which they have had no intimate personal knowledge

A Sparta correspondent of the Baker City paper says "The abundance of snow which fell during the winter season has taken a start at last, and from general appearances there will be considerable free water to work out the precious metal. The Eagle Canal Company are making ready to get their ditch in working order, though it may be two or three weeks yet before a full head is running through it"

R F L Halleck & Co proprietors of the Wagner Creek mines, in Jackson county, have run a tunnel into their lead and found a well defined ledge, from two and one half to three feet in width, at a depth of 70 feet from the surface. They are now crushing the ores in an arastra, with the promise of a rich clean up, as the large amount of amalgam heavily charged with the precious metals indicates.

Among the Indian embassy who came from the lava beds to treat with the Peace Commission, it is said, Louis Land, a partner of Henry Miller, who was one of the victims of the massacre, and whose house was rifled of its contents, recognized one of the murderers, as he rode up and proudly dismounted from a fine animal stolen from him at that time. The scoundrel also sported a new suit of clothes, which Mr. Land identified as his own.

The Jacksonville Times paints things in that section thus. "The finest spring weather prevails at present, and the roads are rapidly becoming good. The stages come in on time now, arriving before 1 o'clock regularly. The farmers are making the turf fly quite lively, and but a small area remains to be sown. The hills and plains abound with grass, and the cattle are becoming fat again, doing away with the blue beef which Jacksonville has been inflicted with during the winter. Altogether, everything is lovely

The Jacksonville Times, as "The latest from the front," has this "From J W Manning, who has just returned from the Modoc country, we learn that after leaving headquarters he was informed by the courier, who overtook him at Linkville, that the artillery was ordered to be moved up to the lava beds, as there were apprehensions that the Indians were preparing to absquatulate, and the authorities desired to hold them there until their case is settled by the new Peace Commission which intends holding another pow wow this year"

Our Hillsboro correspondent is in fine spirits, and says "The clatter, hubbub and rush of spring are upon us. Seeding, road work and building seem to have all come at once, and time, which hung so heavily a month ago, seems now to be going too soon. Many have planted their early gardens in town, and are busied in cleaning up the rubbish and litter of the past winter from their premises. The town bids fair to outgrow the most sanguine expectations of a month ago. Its citizens are more hopeful than ever, and the general prospects for school facilities, commensurate with the demand, will be fully met. The farming communities around the town are eager and willing to assist in pushing the public enterprises ahead, knowing full well that every public building erected and every business house added to the town, is adding so many dollars to the value of their farms, and opening up a better local market in their midst. Under such favorable circumstances it is then no wonder that energy has been infused in every department, and all are busy as beavers, and have no time to listen to complaints of the recent rain and mud, which are thing of the past."

Packwood & Stewart, of Hog 'em mine in Baker county, made a clean up from a twenty days' run of their mill on 253 tons of Summit mine rock, on the 9th inst, which realized $7 000, or an average of over $11 to the ton. The rock was not selected, but was as it was taken from the ledge. The expense of mining and milling was $3,160—being $14 16½ per ton. This left a clear profit of $3 180 which was declared a dividend, and which was divided between the owners of the mine on the 10th. Messrs Packwood & Stewart have made a contract for the getting out of 600 tons of rock from the Star and Summit ledges, at $4 per ton. The total expense of mining and milling this rock will not exceed $8 per ton, as there is plenty of wood, water, etc, convenient, and the proprietors of the mine and mill have their own teams to do the hauling. Taking the clean up just made as a criterion to judge by, the profits of this mill and mine will be very satisfactory. The North Star mine is showing very well and bids fair to be a first class mine. The Summit ledge is down on with an inclined shaft six by eight feet to the depth of 200 feet, and is worked by a No. 1 whim. The vein shows about seven feet, with a horse in it which is now being worked out, and a fine body of quartz coming in from the north drift about 14 feet from the bottom of the shaft

Here is one of a score of similar accidents from the careless use of coal oil of which we have lately read

A frightful scene occurred about nine o'clock this morning at 22 North Eutaw street, caused by the careless use of coal oil. A colored woman employed at the boarding house of Mrs Duval poured coal oil in the stove to have the fire burn more briskly, and in an instant the oil can exploded. The unfortunate woman was enveloped in flames. She rushed from the house into the street literally a pillar of fire, the flames mounting far above her head. Her screams were heard for several squares. In a short time several hundred persons were attracted to the spot. Several gentlemen stripped off their overcoats and threw them round her, attempting to quench the flames, which was not accomplished until every particle of clothing except a small handful about her waist had been consumed, the entire body being horribly roasted. The injuries are necessarily fatal

How American women are appreciated abroad is illustrated by the statement that nearly all the officers of Victor Emmanuel's household are equipped with American wives

THE TERRITORIES.

The Seattle Daily Dispatch has been issued in an enlarged form, and now comes to us a column larger on each page

A dusky forest maiden attempted suicide by hanging herself with her shawl, in the Olympia jail, a few nights ago. She was in for drunkenness

David Higgins, for three years editor of the Seattle Intelligencer has retired from the editorial chair of that paper. We are not aware who will succeed him

Bids are in order at the office of W F Boone in Olympia, for the erection of one wing complete of the Territorial Penitentiary also, for center building, and wharf, especially

The Olympia Transcript claims that private intelligence says that Surveyor General Beach is to be removed and a man by the name of Simpson, of Oregon, is to be appointed in his place.

At the recent annual meeting of the Golden Chariot stockholders the following Trustees were elected. A J Bryant, L B Seaver, C W Fox, S Linkton, J H Bradley, A B Lissak, Jr, H Mayers

R M Wilcox was riding down the Clearwater grade, north of Lewiston, and his horses started and threw him against a rock and broke his left collar bone. Dr. Stainton set the bone and Wilcox is doing well

A dispatch to the Puget Sound Express from Tacoma says "Mr King, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, is on his way out with the railroad contract, and work on the road will commence in two weeks. Tacoma has now sure prospects for the terminus"

The Olympia Transcript says "Chief Chenois, of the Humptulup tribe of aborigines, a nation lately claiming all the lands in this Territory in the Chehalis Valley, on Thursday renounced his tribal relations, swore allegiance to the Government of the United States, and took up a homestead of forty acres on the mud flats of Gray's Harbor"

A writer in the Salt Lake Tribune shows that there are 277 miles of irrigating canals in Utah Territory and that the assessed value of property in 1872 was $17,500,560, or five millions more than was taxed in Nevada. Utah, with more wealth and nearly double the population, remains a Territory, while Nevada for many years has been raised to the dignity of a State, and has had the reflected glory of Senator Nye and other shining political lights.

The Olympia Tribune of the 21st inst says "For carrying the mail from here to Port Townsend and back, the present trip, the North Pacific is to receive the comfortable sum of $500. By the year, at this rate, for three trips per week, the contractor would receive $78,000. Under the contract let to Nash he was to get only $16,000. Until word is received from the Department, or a cheaper transportation obtained, the mails will be carried on the Sound only one trip a week, the other two trips being dispensed with."

The Tribune says "A subsidy has been granted and a contract given for the carriage of the mails from Port Townsend to Whatcom via San Juan and other islands. How the contract was given we don't know, but presume by private arrangement, and that the subsidy is a large one there can be no doubt, for the contractor is no other individual than Hon Selucius Garfielde, ex Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory. Mr Garfielde has, we learn, telegraphed to Mr. Chas. W. Bradshaw of Port Townsend to secure for him a steamboat and put her in the service. Mr B, at last advices, had not yet succeeded, but it was thought would get the Favorite for the route. The performance of the contract will commence on the first of April"

The San Juan correspondent of the Victoria Colonist says "Except it be Mr. John Todd, who is a citizen of Victoria and has a large lot of sheep here or on the various islands, I am not aware of one British subject who wants to leave the place at present. And as a proof of what I state, let me add that most every one of the British subjects here have taken the oath of allegiance, and, to all intents and purposes, are American citizens. True, there are a few Kanakas who could not get out their naturalization papers from the District Clerk when over here, but by their applying in open court at Port Townsend, they can become citizens. Let the people of Victoria rest content that the rights of every British subject who lives or comes here will be as strictly guarded as those of any native born citizen"

About noon on Tuesday, the 11th inst, Karl Kallander, a native of Sweden, aged about 35 years, committed suicide by hanging himself to a juniper tree, on the east side of Jordan creek, two miles below Silver City, Idaho Territory. The tree on which he was found suspended is about twelve feet in height. A large number of small branches had been cut out of the way, apparently with a pocket knife, which must have taken him at least an hour and a half to accomplish. The rope used was similar to a small sized bed cord. He had fastened it in the crotch of the tree, put a noose around his neck, and jumped from a branch some two feet from the ground. His left foot was touching the ground, and to all appearances he had died without a struggle. His tobacco pouch and hat were found hanging in the tree, and he had on a cap which he had improvised out of an old black hat

Would the $20 000 be worth risking in such a lottery?

A resolution was adopted at the beginning that the Chamber should not adjourn until the subject had been disposed of. Figueras announced that the Ministry had declined to stand or fall with the measure. This was contrary to general expectation. It was resolved not to continue the debate, and subsequently, by an unanimous vote the bill for the emancipation of slaves in the Island of Porto Rico passed. The announcement of the result was read with cheers. The Gallows Cheated of its Prey

SAN DIEGO March 24.—Alexander J Fenwick was under sentence of death, the execution to take place on Friday next, for the murder of Charles Wilson. For several days a watch had been kept over him by the Sheriff day and night. Soon after 8 o'clock last evening he became drowsy and dozed off to sleep waking at intervals until the night watch came on, at 10 o'clock. He was then sleeping easily. At 11¼ o'clock the turnkey's attention was called to the irregularity in his breathing and the Sheriff and County physician were immediately summoned. All efforts to awake him failed. He continued to breath hard and irregular until death ensued, this morning. His symptoms were similar to those produced by narcotic poison. The physician who attended him is of the opinion that he died from exhaustion. A bundle of papers addressed to his friend M A Dennis, of Drytown Amador county was opened but nothing found in it to indicate the cause of his death

She brought word from Capt Jack asking these Indians to join the Modocs saying as soon as grass grows they would leave the Lava Beds and commence burning ranches. Another Klamath River Indian living near Leggitt's Ranch had told several whites he was going to join the Modocs shortly. If this should be true it is feared there may be trouble with the Indians on lower Klamath.

MODOC WAR NEWS.

Seven soldiers have deserted from their Companies, and the officers are after them. They evidently don't want no lava bed in theirs.

Some teams started from Yreka for the front on Monday, taking considerable whisky, probably for the new Peace Commissioners, to be used in treating Captain Jack and his band, in the hope of making some terms of peace. If this does not fetch them to terms, another Commission will probably be appointed to meet next Fourth of July, and try the influence of presenting beads to the squaws and babies.

The Yreka Journal says that the report on the strength of a letter from Lake City, Surprise Valley, which was commented upon in the Times, is a gross exaggeration. The report is that the Piutes number 11,000, of which 2 000 are in the vicinity of Lake City. The fact is there are not over 1,200 Piutes, and they are on a Northern reservation, while those around or anywhere near Lake City, do not number a hundred, all told. The report also says the Snakes, an equally powerful tribe, (11,000) are hard upon the confines, (Lake City), which is another exaggeration, as the Snakes, like the Piutes, number nearer 1,100 than 11,000, none of whom are anywhere near Lake City. The truth is bad enough, by the hundreds, without adding the thousands.

From the Yreka Journal we learn that Colonel Sprague, Paymaster, and Wm. Hoag, Government contractor, arrived at Yreka on Monday, from the military headquarters. They report all quiet at the front, the soldiers all in fine health and spirits, with the weather getting warmer, and Lost river booming with high water. The military are waiting for the deliberations of the new Peace Commission, who will meet close to the lava bed, at Van Bremer's, where military headquarters' have been established. The prospects are favorable that the Indians will come out for a talk, if not, the military will "go for them" with a vengeance, and not leave two of them alive, as the officers have gained a full knowledge of every portion of the lava bed and its caves

TUESDAY MORNING MARCH 25 1873

The Question of Sewage

The attention of street improvements in every direction about the city necessitating changes of the natural grade of the surface has brought the drainage of the city so as to create an urgent demand for some well considered system of sewers to carry away the water that falls during our long and rainy winters No one who has not given the subject especial attention can form an adequate idea of the extent to which the drainage of the city has been affected by the street improvements made within the last two or three years or of the difficulties to be met in making provision for the flow of surface water from the streets A rainfall varying between fifty and seventy five inches during four months in each year is no small matter in a city covering the area that Portland covers and which sits directly in the water shed of an extensive range of hills No sooner are the natural channels in which this water formerly flowed to the river obstructed by the new street grades than we have the entire flood upon the streets Many places that were dry before are now flooded with every storm, to the great inconvenience of the city and to the damage of the adjacent owners This state of things demands a remedy at the hands of the city government, and that remedy can only be secured through a good system of sewerage

But this rain water is only an inconvenience and pecuniary damage, both of which can be borne more easily than the evils which must result in another direction from the want of a good system of sewerage We allude to the matter of public health Portland is now grown to such magnitude as to require that some proper disposition be made of the offensive matter from the city Recent investigations in both England and America have demonstrated beyond question that it is impossible to preserve the public health while all the pollutions of the city are permitted to flow into the rivers Experiment has shown how false and dangerous was the formerly received notion that the water of a river would, in flowing a short distance purify itself of the corruptions cast into it from city sewers, and has demonstrated that the waters thus impregnated with poison retain it for a long time, and carry it to a great distance Any system of sewerage, therefore which simply proposes to deposit this obnoxious matter into the river, is essentially vicious and ought to be carefully guarded against

It is evident that the only safe and healthful plan for the disposition of the garbage of the city will involve a chemical change in its constitution, so as to render it innocuous This has been attempted by scientific men in other countries with the most signal success, their experiments resulting not only in destroying the dangerous property of these substances, but in their utilization for purposes of agriculture and that, too, at a cost which will be willingly paid by persons who desire to use the waste matter for purposes of fertilization Economy, as well as considerations of the health of the city, and of those dwelling below us on the banks of the river, there fore requires that this city act carefully in the premises.

The Managers of Fisk University (colored) wanted seventy thousand dollars They had no patron Vanderbilt, but they had ingenuity and numerous good vocalists among the students These latter then were sent forth to sing for an endowment So successful have they been that thirty thousand of the sum required has been secured in the Eastern States alone The singers are to go to Europe to make up the balance This band is known as the "Jubilee Singers and their Ethiopian melodies are highly praised

Uncle Sam has a large suit on hand It is brought against the United States government by the Newport and Cincinnati Railroad Bridge Company for $557,000 and is for the recovery of alleged damages incurred in consequence of alterations required in the construction of a bridge as to its height and width of channel span The act requiring the change also provides that the parties injured may seek redress in the United States Court.

Said Senator Patterson in concluding his defense on Credit Mobilier charges Here I close, simply remarking if such things are to continue, all decent men will leave public life as I do with pleasure and not with regret" Says Mr O Baldwin, (the Irish Giant) after getting severely thrashed in a prize fight in which he was second "I abandon forever, the prize ring to such men as Riley, Geoghegan and their cowardly tools "

The morning dispatch which announces that Commodore Vanderbilt has donated a half million dollars to a female seminary, is suggestive of the reflection that if he should pay to the estate of Horace Greeley the $10 000 out of which that worthless scamp, Cornelius, Jr swindled the dead journalist the deed would show a much higher grade of benevolence and commercial integrity

Dion Boucicault writes to the New York Times that although he has "received from time to time kind notices from the leading New York papers, he cannot help feeling that on the whole they have treated him with less consideration than than he is entitled to " "I am, however he adds like Horatio 'one of those who fortune's buffets and rewards can take with equal thanks

The Jersey City Journal will have to pay $25 000 for its naughtiness There are six of the staunch yeomanry of New Jersey who don't believe in the divine right of the press to expose the unpleasant details of private character It is said that altogether the number of libel suits pending against that journal, is absolutely without precedent

The Springfield Republican says Some ass wrote an anonymous letter to Judge Poland last week, charging him with going easy on certain Congressmen because they were Masons Considering that he is about the only old fashioned hard shell anti Mason left over in Congress, the Judge thinks this decidedly funny

The Boston Globe agitates the following conundrum If the Postoffice Department can afford to transport the postal cards even furnishing the card itself for a cent why cannot it transport a letter weighing the same and without the expense of furnishing any material at all, for the same amount?

A London dispatch announces that on the 5th inst, "the Prince Napoleon Eugene Louis Bonaparte—gentleman cadet Comte de Pierrefonde as he is popularly known in England—son of the late Emperor Napoleon the Third, visited Her Majesty Queen Victoria

The Forty second Congress will not be remembered for its Credit Mobilier farces alone The act by which its members authorized themselves to rob a large increase of compensation for past services will not be speedily forgotten By a single grab the pay which the law allowed for the services of Congressmen and Senators was increased almost fifty per cent and this provision made to reach back and apply to services long since performed If a man who has performed a month's work at a price stipulated and definitely settled long before the work was begun to demand additional pay after the work has been done would it be regarded as dishonorable but how would it look for the party thus situated having got hold of his employer's purse to help himself to the additional sum without the consent of the owner of the money? Such a case would be a parallel to the one presented by the last Congress. Why the law was not made to reach back four or five years further than it did it is impossible to conceive Certainly there would have been no difference in principle between voting themselves additional pay for the last year and voting the same thing for the last two years

This is why De Conto kicked Fernandez out of his office Fernandez offered the spirited son of Malaga a letter from Gen Jordan Afterwards Fernandez mutilated the Spaniard's features with a hickory cane De Conto asks him what he meant and what he wanted Fernandez hit him again The chivalrous Spaniard interrogated the Cuban as to the condition of his armament, adding 'I think I'm going to shoot you And then after a moment's reflection, No I believe I won't though, because you are unarmed ' This valorous son of Cuba put no faith in the changeful opinions of the magnanimous Spaniard Fernandez ran to the shame of sorrowing Cuba be it said But the flying heels of Fernandez covered the banner of his native land with an imperishable lustre He distanced the unpracticed De Conto But the insurgent's head had been punched and his face had been scratched The New York papers are talking about a prospective duel

The Growing Sentiment

At a large meeting recently held at Weymouth, Massachusetts, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted

1st That the Railroad Corporations of this country chartered by the people for the 'public good, have become, through consolidations and combinations, the most gigantic monopoly of private capital, now or ever existing upon this earth

2d That this monopoly, by exorbitant transportation charges, have unjustly taken from the people many millions of money, which their managers have used in corrupting the law-makers, in subsidizing the press, in controlling the finances, in paying large dividends upon their watered stocks, and last, but not least, in filling their own pockets with the earnings of through line cars furnished by despatch freight companies at an annual profit of nearly or quite one hundred per cent

7th That the Hoosac Tunnel should be wholly controlled by the State of Massachusetts and a public railroad running from Boston to Troy through said tunnel, should be purchased or built as soon as practicable

8th That in our opinion the Legislature now in session should purchase the Boston & Albany Railroad, at the price agreed upon in its charter and secure to the people of Massachusetts a public railroad whose managers acting for the "public good" only, shall say to the great Vanderbilt monopoly Your chains are broken we will take your business upon the same terms we charge for like business brought to us by canal or other wise We ask the Legislature to make this purchase at once, because

First The people require immediate relief from the heavy burdens now unjustly imposed upon them by railroad managers and cannot obtain that relief from the Hoosac Tunnel route for a number of years

Second This railroad, which can be bought for about twenty five million dollars including the shares now owned by the State is to day worth fully ten millions of dollars more than it will cost, and is now earning more than six per cent per annum upon a capital of thirty nine millions of dollars

Third This road is now in full operation—a first class road fully equipped with a large and rapidly increasing business, which will pay back to the people of Massachusetts all its cost with interest in from ten to fifteen years provided the rates of transportation are not too largely reduced, thus securing to the people of Massachusetts a railroad property of great value which value must continue to increase until some better mode of transportation is invented,

The Boston Journal of Commerce says this is but a specimen of the sentiment that is prevailing throughout the Eastern States The West is not much in advance of New England for cheap freights

Several days since, the telegraph informed us that a Revenue Collector had seized seventeen locomotives in the round house at West Albany New York The New York Times says of this

Every one will remember the scrip dividend of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company It was in fact a dividend of profits When the Government demanded that it should pay tax as profits, the Company answered No This is not profits, it is water But the Government insisted that if the scrip could earn dividends as it can and does it was fair to tax it A step in the settlement of the matter was taken on Saturday by the seizure of seventeen locomotives in the round house at West Albany by the Collector of that district The public will be interested in seeing if the company can escape taxation on profits which are so enormous that they can not be distributed in the ordinary way but have to be added to the capital stock

A Portsmouth N H paper of the 9th inst says

A son of Mr Samuel White of this city aged fourteen years accidentally shot and killed his brother to day The father, learning the boys had a gun loaded in the house told them to unload it at the first opportunity So one of them got the gun laid the butt on the bed with the muzzle under his arm and in lifting the trigger to remove the cap it slipped from his hand, the cap exploded and the double charge of buckshot was discharged into the heart of his brother who had left the seat where the gunner left him across the room and had come up close hind him to witness the operation

In the extensive fire of February 27th in New Orleans over two hundred and forty buildings were consumed The New Orleans Times of the 28th says

The flames spread so rapidly that in almost every instance the household effects in all the residences were consumed The property destroyed by this fire will reach considerably over a quarter of a million of dollars at a low estimate From the time the fire commenced until it was entirely subdued was about six hours Hundreds of chimneys now stand on the desolate waste and give evidence of the fact that it was a grand fire The area of ground over which the flames made a clear sweep is estimated at about six acres

Interesting Letter from Fort Lapwai.

FORT LAPWAI, I T, March 17, 1873.

To the Editor of the Oregonian

In my last communication I informed you of the fact of Col Sanford received a telegram to be in readiness to move with his troops at any moment On the 6th inst, at 7 P M the order arrived and on Friday morning the 7th inst, at half past nine A M his troops were on the march for Camp Harney whither he was ordered So you see the Colonel did not allow any grass to grow under his feet and lost not a minute of time in moving to the front You will remember also I predicted in case any of the troops at this garrison should be moved from here this spring the

would give the settlers in the Wallowa valley serious trouble and even so it is for no sooner were the troops on their march from here than the intelligence of that fact was immediately communicated to the White Bird Indians who are most of them non treaty, and under the leadership of a son of old Peu peu mox mox Kamiakin and several other scamps started at once for the Wallowa to assist the Indians in that valley in driving off the settlers I should not be at all surprised if by the time this reaches you there is a collision between the settlers and the Indians and if such should be the case somebody is going to be hurted as the settlers in and about the Wallowa won't stand any foolishness from the Indians

IN AND ABOUT LEWISTON

the settlers are very much excited in regard to the Indians or at least the reports which are now in circulation in regard to the movements of the Indians and I am credibly informed a company of volunteers will be raised for home protection The barber (there is only one in Lewiston) is kept quite busy reducing the capillary substance from many in this section of country so poor 'Lo' will have to put tar on his fingers to be able to remove their scalps

There is at the present time at this garrison forty one troops (infantry) all told, who are under the command of Capt Harry M Smith a very brave and efficient officer But in case of an outbreak of the Indians they would be required here for the protection of this immediate settlement and the Government property through this country are well armed and mounted have plenty of ammunition and know how to use their rifles and pistols as well as the whites and have every possible advantage over the troops that are here or any that may be sent here, in regard to a thorough knowledge of all this country I am sure the Indians cannot complain of being misused or in any way swindled by their present Agent, as every one who knows Mr Monteith knows he and all connected with the Agency have done and are doing all they can for the welfare of the Indians, and are courteous obliging and gentlemanly towards every one has settled down to decent behavior, and everything is looking fresh, green and beautiful The plow and garden implements are again resumed, and matters and things move along in their usual way, and yours most obediently frequently rushes furiously out and catches some fine trout

O

A Shoe that Fits while it Pinches

The Des Moines (Iowa) State Register of recent date, contains a long, and sensible article under the caption of Iowa Unthrift We reprint a portion of the article, remarking that here in Oregon we are prone to the same weakness

'While we produce that which brings but little, we are all the while consuming that which costs much—and not only that which costs much, but is imported Not only are the pioneer prices of corn and of all our staple products gone with the days of their time but we are also a more expensive people than we used to be We eat daintier and costlier things wear finer and more expensive clothing and put on generally, a forty per cent style, When we come to our senses, and look at it, there is not a grocery store in Iowa, nor a dry goods nor a clothing store, in the goods of which may not be seen abundant proof of the causes for the times we are now upon We may run the gamut of a few of these many causes Take one shelf of a grocery store Corn in cans—where raised? Not in Iowa, where land and corn are so cheap but in New York, where land and corn are high, corn starch, for laundry and the table, also from the East, strawberries in the can, not raised in Iowa, where strawberries are raised almost as easily as weeds, but in the East—and along with strawberries, raspberries, and all the small fruits beans, too, into a State where they grow by the acre, and by the hundred bushels to the acre, pickles, from New York and New England, and even from old England itself in none of which places can cucumbers be raised as easily or as cheaply as in Iowa—and so on runs the list of imported common things till the Iowa eye grows tired of the parade of importations '

The Pall Mall Gazette of Feb 19th says

What with phylloxera, oidium &c the vine yards of France have so many enemies that there is some consolation in being able to pronounce that a curious contrivance has been devised for protecting plants from frost How many hopes of endless barrels of wine have been nipped in the bud in one cold cloudless night Last year the vines of Thomery were frozen to the very marrow by a sudden change in the temperature, and it will be long before they recover Yesterday M Barral ascended a heap of stones on the road which runs from St Cloud to Suresnes and from that improvised tribune explained to about 1 000 persons the immense advantages to be derived from artificial clouds which can be drawn like a curtain over any spot threatened with frost When the sky is clear when there is neither wind nor dew, nor clouds and when the glass falls below zero, then danger is to be apprehended To avert evil effects, small pots of tar oil, placed about twenty yards apart should be lighted these will emit a dark, heavy smoke, and hang for several hours over the land, preventing radiation and in fact answering one of the purposes of clouds, which is to prevent heat from escaping For about £5 a whole country side can be protected in this way and the evil influences of the "red moon" averted Those artificial clouds have been tried at Montpellier, where they are said to have answered capitally some were manufactured yesterday but there was much wind and they were swept away in the direction of St Cloud

THE DEATH PENALTY IN MISSOURI —The Legislature of Missouri is discussing a proposition to give juries at their discretion, power to commute the death penalty in homicide cases to imprisonment for not less than twenty years A bill making such a provision has been favorably reported to the House The St Louis Globe makes these comments thereon

'It is to be hoped that the bill will become a law The almost irresistible temptation to acquit when any other possible verdict will be fatal is found to virtually annul the law against murder Juries resolutely refuse to take life It will therefore do no harm at least, to try the proposed change of the law as an experiment An additional reason for it is the fact that the existing law of murder is simply preposterous in its failure to discriminate between crimes that differ vastly in magnitude It declares the passion frenzied homicide to have acted with deliberateness and in cool blood, and prescribes the same verdict and fate for one who slays the violator of his domestic peace as for one who murders for gain This should be remedied, and the bill will be a step toward a much needed reformation of our penal code

Commenting upon the action of the last Congress in adding nearly fifty per cent to the pay of the members for past services the New York Times remarks

This shameful trick has thus far excited comparatively little comment—the Liberal Republican press has said scarcely anything about it but people who suppose on this account that the the scandal will blow over will find themselves much mistaken When the nation fully understands how it has been swindled by its representatives in Congress, there will be a storm which may make even Ben Butler question the wisdom of his course The Forty second Congress did little or nothing for the people It simply distinguished itself by making a 'grab' at the national exchequer on the eve of its separation It is one of the most monstrous abuses of legislative power ever perpetrated and every man who took a part in it will be irretrievably disgraced in the sight of the public

Newspaper Disturbances

The following from the Nation shows how newspaper quarrels appear to outsiders

We regret to say the week has again been marked by considerable disturbance in journalism ' The Post in reply to that chaste and gentlemanly advice to its editor about his clothes from the Times which we reproduced, observed that the editor of the Times was 'an illustrious Briton ' 'who had learned his vocabulary in billingsgate and had left the country for his country's good and asserted with justifiable confidence that the plan of having appointments made by executive nomination and legislative confirmation was devised by the founders of the American Government and not as the Times alleges by its own editor Whereupon the Times insinuated vaguely that some of its enemies had been indicted and the Tribune then intervened by requesting the World not to call the editor of the Times 'Jennings' as this was an opprobrious epithet which it should avoid out of respect for the memory of Henry J Raymond Here the editor of the Times appeared on the scene again with flaming eyes and observed that the World had been twice sold once for a house and once for a sum of money and that the editors of the Tribune had no reputation with which they would not willingly part He then indulged in a monologue on the causes of the detestation generally felt for him by the members of his own profession ('the vindictive hate of most of our city contemporaries') and came to the conclusion that it was due to his publication of the ring accounts

Henry Bellows Chief Justice of New Hampshire died in Concord on the 10th inst aged seventy years The cause of his death was heart disease

CITY.

COUGAR KILLED.—A large cougar was killed last Saturday morning on the old J... ...m th... place below Vancouver on the Washington Territory side by two brothers named Lawrence and Dox Reeder The animal was one of the largest and most fierce of the species weighing about 250 pounds, and measuring 7½ feet from tip to tip Early on Saturday morning Lawrence one of the brothers started out to hunt ducks. About sunrise he found himself on the bank of a small slough Happening to cast his eyes across, he discovered some large animal lying on the opposite side fast asleep At first the early rays dazzled his sight and he could not decide what the animal was but on more closely reconnoitering he discovered to his not very agreeable surprise that his neighbor over the way was a very large cougar His discovery was so suddenly made that an exclamation escaped his lips Instantly with a cat like instinct the cougar sprang up, and after surveying the intruder for a moment it gave several leaps into the adjoining underbrush and crouched down Although armed Lawrence did not like to attack the beast alone He quietly withdrew from the spot and returning home, got his brother Dox and two large dogs to accompany him to the cougar's lair The dogs soon routed the animal and sent it spinning up a tree. A shotgun, loaded with an ounce ball was discharged at the cougar, but it failed to dislodge the animal The ball took effect on the side of the head and, glancing off did no injury at all Another barrel charged with heavy shot was then discharged The load struck the animal on one side of the head in the region of the ear, and fetched his cougarship down to the ground The dogs sprang to seize the beast as it descended, but one was severely wounded by a blow from the infuriated animal Scarcely however had the cougar touched the earth when it received a heavy charge in the neck, which dispatched it almost instantly With no small degree of triumph the Reeders conveyed the body to their ranch and removed the skin Mr O B Johnson of East Portland, has been presented with the skin, which he will soon dress and stuff for exhibition The cougar had frequently been seen of late lurking about that section of the country A number of hogs had been killed in the neighborhood and other depredations committed, which were correctly attributed to the cougar's well known penchant for a good meal

DEFENDANT DISCHARGED.—Mr Wilkins, one of the proprietors of the New York Hotel, was arrested on Sunday, charged with larceny by bailee The case came up for examination yesterday in the Police Court. The charge was preferred by a person who had been boarding at the hotel When the boarder left the house he also left behind a little balance still unpaid In order to secure himself, Mr Wilkins retained two trunks filled with clothing, until the person should square all arrears At the time, the departing guest did not interpose any serious objections, but he subsequently concluded to have "mine host" arrested on a charge of larceny On taking the witness stand he testified that he was indebted to Mr Wilkins for eleven days' board for himself and wife, and that at the time he left the hotel he did not particularly object to his trunks being held for the balance, until its liquidation The complaining witness did not succeed very well in establishing his case to the satisfaction of the Court Before the evidence was concluded, the Court ordered that the defendant be discharged

ROLL BOARD.—A very elegant roll board for the exempt firemen of Protection Company No 4, can be seen at the show window of J H. Gill & Co The board is of fine workmanship and was made by Mr. A P. Dello at an expense to the company of several hundred dollars Some time ago we gave an elaborate description of this roll board when it was nearly finished Subsequently the "finishing touches" have been added The narrow slips on which the names of the exempt members will be inscribed are covered with silver, very handsomely polished At the top of the board is a large plate of the same metal attached to the frame and appropriately lettered In elegance of finish and superb workmanship, it far surpasses anything of a similar character in the city. It will repay inspection.

RETURNED.—Mr. O. B. Johnson, of East Portland, returned yesterday from a several weeks scientific tour down the Columbia river He has been engaged with all the naturalist's energy and enthusiasm in the procuring of ornithological specimens to grace his collection His efforts have met with a reasonable degree of success, as he has obtained a number of new species of aquatic birds, which he has not hitherto been able to procure. The skins of these fowls he will remove with care and stuff We learn that Mr Johnson has an order from some scientific institution in the East to obtain and forward all the various species of the feathered tribe peculiar to Oregon

COOK, THE JESTER.—"James Cook, the Jester and Clown," well known in this city, is engaged as equestrian director for Howe's London Circus during the coming season, and has been specially engaged to star for two weeks with Wilder's Amphitheatre, Chicago, commencing March 10th Cook is better known here in sporting circles as the adventurous fellow who made several unsuccessful attempts to drive four geese harnessed to a tub, from the lower end of Ross Island to East Portland The goose driving project wasn't a success, but the reckless and novel character of the attempted feat won for the jester much notoriety

THE FOUNDATION.—We learn that the brick foundation which was laid about two years ago for a new church building in Holladay's Addition, East Portland, will be removed in a few days, and the material used for some other purpose. The project of erecting a church there has been abandoned for the present The original intention was to construct an edifice costing in the vicinity of $6,000 There being insufficient funds on hand, the building enterprise will be relinquished.

QUICK WORK.—At the time the fire alarm was sounded last Sunday afternoon, Multnomah Engine No. 2 raised 25 pounds of steam while the engine was being moved a distance of 140 feet The distance was less than one block By the time the engine could reach the cistern, lift the cover and insert the suction, there was sufficient steam to throw a stream of water on the building and extinguish the embryo fire.

OPEN FOR TRAVEL.—The Fourth street bridge in East Portland has been repaired by order of the Board of Trustees, and was again thrown open to public travel a few days ago The timbers, as yet, of the structure are all staunch and sound, and bid fair to answer the requirements of travel for years to come All the old planks have been torn up, and a new substantial road way laid

BEEF CATTLE.—Fifty nine head of beef cattle were shipped on the Emma Hayward from the Cascades, yesterday. Thirty four head of the drove were landed at Vancouver These cattle will be driven overland to the Sound to supply the general market The remainder of the drove (25 head) were brought to this city, and will be butchered to stop the average Portlander's cry for beef

WENT BELOW.—The steam tug Ben Holladay went down the river yesterday afternoon to St Helens At that point she will take in tow the schooners Marietta and Parallel both loaded with lumber, for Astoria These vessels will constitute the second and third ones of the Star Line between San Francisco and Portland which have sailed hence with cargoes of lumber

NEW MILITARY COMPANY.—A meeting will be held by the members of the new military company partially organized already, at the United States Grand Jury room to-morrow evening The object of the meeting is to perfect the organization by the election of officers for the ensuing year and to muster in the persons who have signed the membership roll

WILL ADJOURN.—Only one more case in chancery remains on the docket in the Circuit Court This case will probably be disposed of to day, when the Court will adjourn until the next regular term, which is to begin on the first Monday in June

PASSENGERS.—The following passengers arrived at San Francisco yesterday, from the East en route for this city: Geo I Cole D Chaplin, F Foster, Mrs Ladd and daughter J M Kelly and daughter, F A Bean, and W Pringle

DIVORCE GRANTED.—In the Circuit Court yesterday a decree of divorce was granted in the case of Melissa M. Dolson vs Chas Dolson

STOVE FOUNDRY.—Ground has not yet been broken for the foundation of the new stove foundry to be erected on the eastern side of the river Three small wooden houses have been constructed and are about ready for occupancy near where the foundry is to stand Work on the foundry we learn will not begin for some time yet

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—There will be a meeting of the State Horticultural Society held in this city on Thursday 10th April at 10 o'clock A M The object of the meeting is to take into consideration the propriety of holding a Horticultural and Pomological Fair in Portland during the coming summer

SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the First Congregational Church will give a sociable in the vestry of the Church corner of Jefferson and Second streets on this (Tuesday) evening The usual refreshments of the season will be provided Friends of the church and the public generally are invited Admission free

NOT YET CLOSED.—The argument in the case of Jos Bachman assignee of the estate of A H Jordon & Co vs Wallamet Falls Canal and Lock Company was being heard in the U S Circuit Court yesterday The arguments were not concluded and may probably consume the greater portion of to day

FALSE ALARM.—An alarm of fire was sounded last evening about 10 30 o clock No one being able to solve the conundrum as to the existence and precise locality of the fire fiend over which local reporters delight to rhapsodize the crowd and the several Companies quietly dispersed

HONORS (!) TO THE SAHIB

Saturday night was set apart for the triumphal reception of Mr Ben Holladay who was expected to arrive on the incoming Oriflamme The East Portland Cornet Band had been engaged for the occasion, and their instructions were to hold themselves in readiness until midnight At the melancholy hour of eight o'clock the chief fugleman set the procession in motion For three mortal hours the little group of faithful henchmen lingered about the inhospitable borders of the O S S Co's wharf Then the shivering fugleman announced that owing to the inclemency of the weather the reception would be postponed until further notice The Oriflamme arrived on Sunday last Mr Holladay set foot on Oregon soil amid a suggestive silence

At eight o clock last evening the soul inspiring strains of music which issued from a lager beer saloon on Front street announced that the faithful were about to bend the knee before the great Sahib Ten minutes later at the residence of Count Fourtales were gathered some twenty of the Sahib's admirers and other twenty spectators, lured thither by the eloquent music of the band After several lively pieces had been played, Mr Caples appeared on the veranda. In his rear tramped the phalanx of the faithful After a delay of ten minutes the Sahib appeared Thereupon Mr. Caples opened the exercises by informing Mr Holladay that he had made the hills and valleys reverberate with the hoarse whistle of the traditional iron horse He told the Sahib that it wasn't much of a turn out but it was the best they could do under the circumstances "We had only twenty minutes to get this thing up in But" said Mr Caples, "we are all your sincere friends, and admirers of your great energy and we wanted to tell you so" Mr Caples retired to a back room Hon J N Dolph President of the Bulletin Publishing Company, came to the footlights with an apology for the absence of the honorable gentleman who had hitherto done Mr Holladay's talking He said that Senator Kelly had on a similar occasion in Washington quite lately, said that his honorable colleague in the Senate did all the talking Mr Dolph told Mr Holladay that he had built all the railroads in Oregon A brief peroration on rolling-stock and the reverberating whistle of the iron horse closed Mr Dolph's speech Mr Malarkey, of the Custom House tendered the band the hospitalities of the mansion but as they hesitated about entering the grounds Mr Caples came forward and said "A little louder, Dan Now, gentlemen, we want you all to understand that the hospitalities of Mr Holladay's house are free to all to night Come right along" Whereupon a gang of hoodlums made a rush for the glittering parlors, the greater portion of the crowd turned homeward and the reception by the faithful to the great Sahib was ended Altogether, Mr Holladay could not have regarded this affair as a testimonial of the affection of the citizens of Portland for him The utter absence of any sort of enthusiasm was most noticeable

Figueras and Castelar

The two most prominent figures in the political drama now being enacted in Spain are thus portrayed by a correspondent of the New York Tribune

The Foreign Ministry is at the Royal Palace of Madrid In the arrangements connected with the reception of visitors there is a surprising absence of ceremony truly republican On my giving my name to the solitary attendant in the lobby, he ushered me into an apartment which is used as the ante room to the Minister's private room Senor Castelar does not reside in the Foreign Office, but has here only his official apartments I found in the saloon two or three gentlemen who had received the same invitation as myself On the arrival of the Minister the conversation was general, every one remaining in the outer saloon Then the Minister took his visitors, each in turn, into his own private room each of these interviews lasted for about ten minutes On their conclusion there was again a period of general conversation, this time in the Minister's own apartment Soon after midnight, the visitors took their departure

Senor Castelar is a man of about 40 years of age He is of middle size, with great breadth of shoulder and he has ample chest, his appearance is altogether commanding The pose of his head is full of dignity and his gestures are at once expressive and natural His face is of the Spanish type, long and narrow a heavy mustache over hangs a mouth that fails to indicate firmness, and the chin lacks the massiveness which we are wont to associate with the idea of a man of action and determination His forehead is lofty, but has the fault of narrowness The eyes are large, full, and dark They give character to the wide face They are the eyes of a poet an orator a man of keen sensibility a theorizer a dreamer of mystical utopianisms He speaks exceptionally well He has strong hopes that, if Spain succeeds in finally establishing herself as a Republic, that success will tell with tremendous effect on the monarchies of Europe This morning I waited on Senor Figueras, President of the Ministry Nobody is refused an audience The President is a tall and handsome man of about 50 years of age His face is expressive of great earnestness, but wants the appearance of energy and softens at times with an expression of plaintiveness He speaks with great frankness, and, unlike Castelar, he does not give us the idea of straining after effect In health he is far from robust; during the night he said that he had been spitting blood, and the labor which his position enforces prevents his enjoying the rest which the delicacy of his health demands For the present, he said, the Carlists were comparatively quiet, but he anticipated that, when the weather in the mountains was less severe, they would make more formidable demonstrations than they had yet done The Ministry were determined to deal firmly and promptly with the Carlist insurrection. Of the difficulties in the way of a Republic, the President spoke with great seriousness, and of himself he spoke with a diffidence which was manifestly sincere. "I have not iron enough in me to be a strong ruler in troublous times," was his remark, with a sigh in which there seemed something akin to despondency He spoke a good deal of England, and of its happy state of tranquility, to which his poor Spain presented so strong a contrast Of Mr Bright he spoke in terms of enthusiasm

The arming of the civil population is exciting much uneasiness in many quarters It is a most hazardous policy As a fact, every one who applies gets a gun, so far as there are guns to give away The 150,000 Remingtons which are now contracted for will no doubt be given away in the same promiscuous manner, The soldiers are beginning to demand their "licenses," that is, permission to go home and transmute themselves from soldiers into volunteers In an armed civil population and an army disaffected by reason of a desire to be disbanded, there looms over Spain a cloud charged with evil to come

The Laws of Health

It is useless for State Legislatures to pass laws for the preservation of the public health If the great law of self preservation which depends for its enforcement upon the will of the individual is suffered to remain a dead letter There is scarcely an adult member of the community, of either sex, in this country, who has not seen the testimony in favor of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters furnished over their own signatures by persons of acknowledged eminence in science, literature art commerce and every department of business and professional life These witnesses have declared in the most specific terms that this preparation is a safeguard against epidemics, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia a valuable anti bilious medicine a promoter of appetite a genial and harmless stimulant, a good acclimating medicine strong bracer of the nerves, a general invigorant a protection against the deleterious effects of malaria and impure water and that it imports a degree of vigor and activity to the vital forces which is not communicated by any other of the tonics and stomachics in use Under these circumstances the self preservative law of nature should teach every rational person who either by reason of inherent debility or in consequence of exposure to unwholesome influences, is in peril of losing the greatest of all temporal blessings, health the importance of using the Bitters as a defensive medicine Dyspeptics who neglect to give it a trial are simply their own enemies It is guaranteed to cure indigestion in all its forms and the bilious and nervous will find nothing in the whole range of official and proprietary medicines which will afford them the same relief

Art Culture in America

An anonymous correspondent of the N Y Herald makes the following suggestions in regard to the deficiency of American education in the Fine Arts:

Occasionally in this and other periodicals, I read bitter denunciations of the works of American artists and humiliating comparison of art in America to art in Europe, and, knowing your proverbial willingness to consider all sides of a subject, I venture to ask for a little space in your paper to say a few words on the other side.

I would not attempt to deny any of the amiable assertions made with reference to the artistic productions of Americans; many of them are perhaps too true; but I would modestly remind our critics that no comparison is possible under unequal circumstances.

Years ago, when those whose names are now associated with American art were trying to prepare for their prospective career, the advantages for artistic study were even more limited than now. There was no school in America where an art student could receive thorough instruction in the elements of drawing. The National Academy of Design opened its doors to those who wished to draw from the antique, with a view to becoming artists, and occasionally one or two of its members came in to the so called school and gave a few haphazard criticisms. Many of the students labored through the day for their daily bread, and at night drew from the antique, and, when able to pay for their models from life, at the academy, before the days of gas, furnishing their own candles. The proverbial lightness of pocket of the devotee to art is too well known to need enlarging on, and so harassed by financial difficulties and groping among the mysteries of art with little or no instruction, it were hardly reasonable to expect a great outburst of talent. Those so fortunate as to have means to study abroad, if admitted to the European schools, must necessarily be at some disadvantage if not familiar with the language and customs of the country.

The state of our art schools at present, though much in advance of those early days of art in America, is yet far behind that of the schools of music, of science, of every other profession. We are justly proud of our free schools of learning, theology, medicine and every art save that of painting. In New York city, the art centre of our country, where is our system of art and culture? The schools of the Cooper Union, consisting of drawing and the daily "School of Design for Women," noble and successful as far as they go, offer only instruction in the rudiments of drawing. The schools of the National Academy of Design, the only institution here where a student can be taught drawing thoroughly and completely, have been supported by a fund bequeathed to them for that purpose by the late James A. Suydam, of the National Academy, but latterly this income has proved insufficient to defray the expenses, and the academy building has been mortgaged to sustain the schools. And when the student, after years of effort—perhaps of self denial and penury—has here mastered drawing, his alphabet, he must work his way thence unassisted or spend many years in the schools of Europe. It is not soothing to our national pride to remember that our art students, to complete their education, must partake of the privileges Europe's sovereigns and public bodies extend to their subjects.

Surely no marked success in American art can be attained while this state of affairs lasts. It is not lack of talent, it is not want of earnestness, that keeps our art at this low ebb, it is the absence of advantages necessary to a thorough art education.

We have a distinct nationality in literature, in mode of thinking, and we should also have a nationality in art. When American citizens of wealth and culture recognize this need and the cause of it, and are willing to devote to art education a comparatively small part of the means they give so generously to other public institutions of learning, and to the public welfare in many ways, we may hope for better things. We may hope that our school of art may be built upon a broad and firm foundation, free from the false perplexities and mannerisms of the European schools—teaching truth to nature, truth not only in detail, proportion and harmony of drawing and color, but truth in sentiment, a school that recognizes the highest idealism as founded on the purest realism, a school that seeks always to perceive more and more of hidden beauty in nature, and to speak through a perfect rendering of nature the truths that nature's self has taught, and is ever teaching, to willing learners day by day.

A Clergyman Stricken with Paralysis in the Pulpit

On Sunday morning, at 11 20 o'clock, Rev T. B. Hudson, pastor of the M. E. Church in this village, was stricken down by paralysis. The usual opening exercises of the morning service had been completed, and the pastor was proceeding with his discourse. He had read about fifteen minutes—his voice as firm and distinct as on previous occasions. Suddenly he stopped, and requested that a window be let down to admit fresh air. For a moment he stood pressing his hands to his forehead, and leaning forward on the desk; then, as if rallying all his strength for the effort, he began again, and uttered the words of his sermon—"These days are passing away," and as the last syllable left his lips he sank back on the sofa, insensible. Members of the congregation pressed forward to raise him up. Dr. Bottum was immediately summoned, and within a few minutes was in attendance. Not, however, until the doctor came, was the fatal nature of the case apprehended, and their beloved pastor was borne in the arms of his brethren from the church to his home. As he lay heavily breathing after being taken home, he rallied for a moment, and said to a friend who stood at his side: "I think my work is done." These were the last words from his lips. Relapsing immediately into unconsciousness, he breathed laboriously for hours, defying every effort to relieve or rouse him. Toward night he became sensibly weaker, and at about 10 o'clock he breathed his last.—Lyons Republican, March 6

COST OF THE SCHOOLS IN MASSACHUSETTS.—In the course of the remarks made in the House of Representatives by Mr Stedman, of Boston, says the Journal of that city, in favor of the retention of the "reading and writing" clause, he stated that the amount of taxes paid for the support of schools the past year in the State, including wages, fuel, repairing and erecting school houses and the instruction of children in reformatory institutions, was $5,176,927 or $19 19 for every child between the ages of five and fifteen years and $3 76 a head for every man, woman and child in the State, an amount equal to three mills and sixty five one hundredths on the valuation. For the purpose of education (except colleges) the public and private expenditure the last year was $6 1[illegible]0,000 or $22 8[illegible] per capita for every child between the ages of five and fifteen years, or $4 36 for every person in the State.

A [illegible] was once caught by her master stealing a goose, and the next Sunday she partook of the communion, after which her master accosted her as follows:

"Why, Hannah, I saw you to day at the communion table."

"Yes, tank de Lord, Massa, I was 'lowed to be dere wid de rest of his family."

"But, Hannah, I was surprised to see you there," he said. "How about that goose?" She looked a little surprised, as if she did not understand the question, but, catching the meaning, exclaimed:

"Why, sah, do you tink I se going to let an ole goose stand atween me and my maker?"

An editor who takes a singular delight in statistics has found that, "according to the recent census, it appears that in Rhode Island alone the number of adult males of Portuguese descent, who died from spinal meningitis during the first half of the last decade, was just twice the number of Cashmere goats imported during the succeeding five years by the entire State of New York."

A Kansas legislator told how he voted for Senator something in this way: "I don't know just how it all was. One fellow got up and said J'ingalls, and another said J'ingalls, and they kept on saying J'ingalls, until at last they called my name, and I said J'ingalls too."

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS

Philadelphia has thus far pledged $1 700 000 for the Centennial fund.

The consumption of iron for railroads during the present year, is estimated 1 750 000 tons.

A rolling mill and smelting mill is to be erected at Kansas City, with a capital of $500 000.

Of the $[illegible] invested in the coal business of this country Pennsylvania's share is $[illegible].

The banks and banking firms of [illegible] number 101, with an aggregate capital of over $28 000 000.

The first railroad built in England was in 18[illegible], when 30 miles were built. In 1870 there were 2[illegible] miles.

England has 673 furnaces, producing 6 000 000 tons of pig iron per annum, procured from 17 000 000 tons of ore.

The production of coal in the Cumberland field for 1872 was 2 [illegible] tons. The production in 1812 was 1 708 tons.

The prominent features of the progress of California agriculture are the extension of the area in grain, the construction of tule dykes and irrigation canals and the rapid multiplication of sheep.

There are just 9[illegible] good manufacturing points in Iowa, as we are informed by the local paper of the State. The number of railroad centers are so numerous that we have lost the count.

The immense machine shop of Wm Sellers & Co of Philadelphia cover six and one half acres, the establishment being one of the most extensive in the country. The firm make almost anything in the shape of iron working machines. The value of their annual product of machine tools amounts to $1 700,000.

The estimated bullion product of Nevada for 1872 is between $22 000 000 and $23,000,000. The product for the last nine months is set down at $17 811 176. The increase in bullion produced over the preceeding year is about $4,000,000. The same authority estimates the product for the coming year at $26 000 000.

The silver smelting works of Omaha possess a capacity of 500 tons of ore per month. In the six months ending February 1 those works produced and sent to market lead of the value of $280 000, and in the same time gold and silver (coin value) $118 781. In the same time, base bullion received at the works, to be refined, weighed 1 8[illegible]7 823 pounds.

The Chicago Journal of Commerce of the 11th inst says that in the general aspect of the money market there has been a marked improvement. This is probably due mainly to the increase of funds realized from the shipment of hogs and cattle and to the closing up of packing operations. Packers have done a large and it is generally supposed a profitable business. The receipts of these profits now being deposited in the banks furnish additional and available funds to operate in the grain market. Money is therefore more abundant. First class paper is negotiated in large amounts at 10 per cent. Very good paper is in demand at from 10 to 12 per cent. Good accommodation paper goes as high as 15 to 18 per cent. Loans on collaterals can be effected at at 9 to 10 per cent.

The aggregate clearings of the Chicago banks for the week ending March 8 were $22 5[illegible]6 683; balances $2 122 909 18. Same week last year—clearances, $1[illegible],0[illegible]8,690 93; balances, $1 [illegible]41,7[illegible] [illegible].

The New York Times thus reports the finances of that city on the 10th inst:

The banks gain strength very slowly. They are not yet above the 25 ₩ cent line in Lawful Money to Deposits and Circulation. During the week, and especially near the close, the Greenback average was disturbed by the sales of gold from the Treasury. The buyers of the $1 500 000 on Thursday at 115 22 ₩ cent paid in Greenbacks on Friday in place of mixed Currency, and the impression is that there was a purpose in this to further tighten the Money market already as dear as a sixteenth of one ₩ cent a day among the stock brokers. On Friday and Saturday the rate was an eighth of one per cent on stock collateral, and it was the wonder of the street how the Bull speculation in the shares that could stand this continued severe strain so well. In trade circles Money is not so dear: 7 ₩ cent at bank and 9 to 12 ₩ cent on prime paper outside of bank. The import and export interests are both feeling the rise of gold to 15¼ ₩ cent, and the singularly inconsistent fall of Exchange to 10⅞ ₩ cent. Our domestic produce shipments might profit temporarily by the higher price of gold, if the same speculation had not demoralized the Exchange and rendered it difficult to negotiate mercantile or banking bills on corresponding terms.

The London Economist explains the non reduction of Bank of England rate in February as follows:

A considerable amount of gold has been taken from the Bank of England for Japan and Germany; and there are orders for Spain, and also, we believe, for Germany, which cannot be executed, because there is no bullion and which may, therefore, at any moment be taken from the bank. The peculiar liability of the money market to heavy bullion demands which has been its principal feature ever since the suspension of cash payments by the Bank of France, and especially since the German government began its great coining operation, still continues.

Eastern Dry Goods Markets

From our Eastern exchanges we collate the following:

At Chicago, with the gradual breaking up of winter the spring trade may now be considered fairly initiated. There are good indications of larger sales and better profits than during last season. Much of this trade in the spring of 1872 partook largely of the speculative element. This season it seems to be restricted entirely to supplying the actual consumptive demands of the community. This is a good indication. Since the beginning of March the aggregate distribution of goods shows a satisfactory increase over the corresponding period of last season; and this too, when the trade has to confront most unfavorable weather and a stringent money market. Prices are firm and changes few and unimportant, and if any upward tendency. Stocks are full and our wholesale jobbing houses are prepared for a large business. The Carpet trade lacks animation, and the tone of the market is not particularly buoyant.

The New York Dry Goods market of the 11th inst is reported as follows: A moderate business transacted by jobbers. Houses dealing in Cotton, Prints and Shawls were fairly active. Low grades of Brown Sheetings were [illegible], all others brisk. Fine Bleached Shirtings active and closely sold by agents. Prints were lively in first hands. Liberal sales of Ginghams. Woolens not active. Foreign fabrics quiet except Dress goods, which are moving freely. Ribbons selling at low prices by auction.

At Boston there is no change in prices, and stocks of cotton goods are not in excess of the wants of consumers.

The introduction of Brown Sheetings is not large, and with a steady but moderate demand [illegible] are kept so closely sold up that prices from first hands rule firm for all well known and popular makes, although there may be occasional concessions on brands that have not become widely known.

Bleached Cottons are in very good request, and there has been no difficulty in maintaining the rates recently established, although the weather has prevented so brisk an inquiry as will be felt with the advent of better traveling.

Ticks and Denims—The demand for Denims continues to be sufficient to absorb the production, and there is no stock in first hands. Ticks are firm and in fair request at recent quotations. Fancy Shirtings sell readily and there is a moderate demand for common stripes.

Ginghams—Small assortments of Ginghams continue to be taken, and with only a limited production the market is firm.

Prints—The best styles of [illegible] work are moving moderately, but there is no special activity.

Dress Goods—The market is not active, but there is a fair demand, and with better weather there will undoubtedly be a brisk trade. Foreign goods are without animation, and the sales from importers have been light.

Woolens—The decline in Wool imparts a better feeling to manufacturers, but there is as yet no increase in trade, and the business of the past week has been confined to such lots as clothiers require to sort up with, while jobbers are buying little or nothing.

Carpets—Trade is quiet, and the market is without special change.

Home Produce Market

WHEAT—There is but little doing, the demand being dull and the receipts light. Quotations are unchanged. Millers are still paying $1 60. We hear of no purchases to day by exporters. Liverpool market is unchanged.

FLOUR—Advices by mail from the East per last steamer show Oregon Flour still standing at par with the best Western brands. Our local market is quiet and [illegible] dull at $4 per barrel for [illegible] and $4 50@4 75 for [illegible] country brands and $[illegible] for extra of standard brands. Prices favorable to buyers.

OATS—The receipts are [illegible]

DR C G GLASS

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J F GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. ly8d4pt
